Egg Harbor Township Nature Reserve Listed in the Top 20 Trails in South Jersey

South Jersey Trails has explored over one hundred and sixty six (166) trails in Southern New Jersey over the last five (5) years and promulgated their Top 20 Trails in South Jersey for 2018. The Top 20 Trail list can be viewed at: <https://southjerseytrails.org/2018/03/15/top20trailssouthjersey/>. South Jersey Trails seeks out trails in South Jersey to share with the public for new and exciting places to hike.

The Township of Egg Harbor Nature Reserve trail system has been ranked 19th by South Jersey Trails. The Township Committee is proud to have the Nature Reserve trail system recognized by an outside group who rates trails.

The Nature Reserve is a two hundred twenty (220) acre sanctuary located in the midst of a residential community in the Township. It is comprised of three (3) components: An environmental learning center, a lake area, and wooded forest. Each offers diverse terrain and a unique place to enjoy many activities in a passive and pristine setting, including biking, hiking, fishing, and bird watching.

The Nature Reserve has become an environmental and recreational jewel benefiting all members of the public and the Township and Nature Reserve Committees would like to urge all our residents to discover this beautiful amenity for themselves.
